

MUNCH LUNCH BUNCH IS GOING NATIVE

Native American, that is! Fry bread, bison ribs, hominy salsa, wojapi, Indian tacos...that sort of lunch fare from various tribal traditions. Fast, casual, and unfussy. TOCABE is owned by an Osage tribal member, provides scholarships to Native American students, uniforms to the Denver Indian Center youth basketball team, food during local Native American events like the Denver March Pow Wow at the Coliseum, and supports Native suppliers as much as possible for its food sources. It was once featured on Food Network's Diners, Drive-Ins, and Dives - but is not a diner, a drive-in, or a dive...just a nearly one-of-a-kind low-key Native American eatery. Join us on this casual exploration of America's Native food heritage.

DATE & TIME: Monday, April 30th, at 11:30 a.m.
PLACE: TOCABE, 8181 E. Arapahoe, Greenwood Village
(near corner of Greenwood Plaza Blvd. & Arapahoe)
RSVP: Luree Miller - lureemiller@mac.com or 415-215-3770
DEADLINE: Thursday, April 26th
WEBSITE: tocabe.com